

Predictions & Planning

In this month's newsletter, we look at some of the transformative changes we can expect in 2024. From the latest in Artificial Intelligence, where we explore how it can have legal pitfalls, to insights on how the economic climate may affect the construction sector. Additionally, we'll examine what lies ahead for employers, covering emerging law changes. Lastly, we'll highlight why everyone should consider creating a will, regardless of wealth.

Artificial Intelligence the key to successful business?

Artificial Intelligence is trending worldwide. As a commercial solicitor, I see AI as an exciting emerging technology which provides a number of tools to help businesses thrive. However, as AI develops, some foreseeable pitfalls should be avoided. Read the article here.

by Chloe Vertigen - Business Team

How will the declining economic climate affect construction in 2024?

The construction industry is in a difficult position entering 2024, as it suffers from a declining economic climate. It is important to understand the likely repercussions on the construction industry in this environment so businesses can prepare and adapt. Read the article here.

by Suryen Nullatamby - Construction Team

Whats on the horizon for employers in 2024

As we kick off 2024, various employment law changes are due to come into force over the course of the year. Staying informed and proactive of the upcoming changes is crucial to ensuring compliance and fostering a positive workplace. Read the article here.

by Samantha Randall - Employment Team

Why you need a will, regardless of wealth

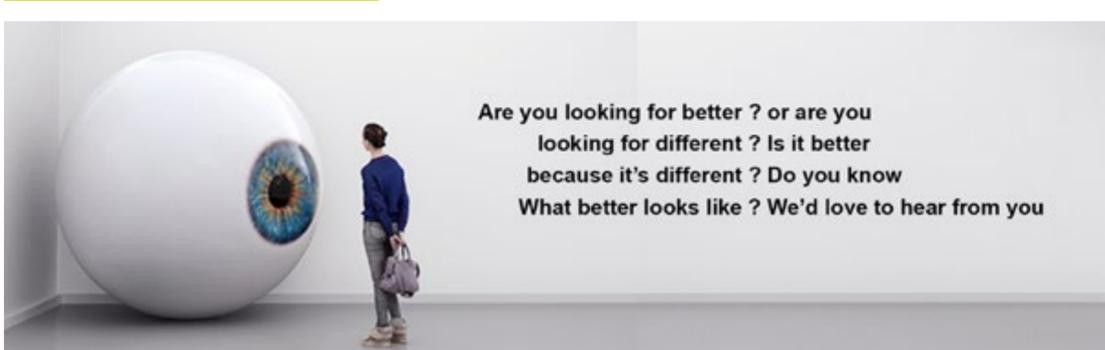

A common misconception is that you have to be extremely wealthy to put in place a will. No matter how large or small your assets are, it is always important to have a will that outlines who you want to inherit your estate. Read the article here.

by Leah Woodlee - Wills, Trusts & Probate Team

In case you missed it →

- Divorce and Pensions: Why pensions as an asset get ignored
- Guidelines for Schools: Understanding the Latest Sexual Harassment Legislation
- The Cookie Crumbles for UK Top Viewed Websites
- Surrender and re-grant of agricultural tenancies

Are you looking for better ? or are you looking for different ? Is it better because it's different ? Do you know What better looks like ? We'd love to hear from you

Dilapidation from Drafting to Disputes 30 January